Re: 'ERUV'

The application for an ERUV has now been submitted. I have decided to handle personally. Currently it is incomplete since no fee has been submitted and notices have failed to be served.

I am taking advise on the correct planning fee.

I have visited the site with John Koster of Engineering Services and there will be a need to vary the location of some of the proposed poles, as well as the type of poles to be used. There also would appear to be other constraints relating to land ownership.

I intend to carry out fairly widespread consultations involving letters to all the members of the Town Planning and Research Committee, press releases, local resident groups etc. and individuals living in close proximity to where the poles are to be located.

I am taking the view that the planning issues relate to the Impact of the poles on the local environment and there is no material change of use of land. However I will take legal advise on this.

As the 'ERUV' would cover substantial areas in both the western area and central area, the application will have to be determined by the Town Planning and Research Committee.

I anticipate that it will be reported to the October meeting.
